

VAILLIBS

The coronavirus has me feeling _____ (adjective) , but never fear, I live in the Vail Valley. Today, my _____ (person) , took me on a hike to _____ (noun). When we got there, there was a _____ (adjective) _____ (animal). The _____ (same animal) made a noise that sounded like it was having a _____ (adjective). It was really _____ (adjective).

We _____ (verb) up the trail for a little bit. I saw some animal tracks in the mud but then – oh my goodness! My _____ (body part) got stuck in the mud. I _____ (adverb) tried to get it out but I kept sinking deeper. My _____ (same person) had to pull me out.

When we got to the top, I saw a _____ (noun). It was really _____ (adjective). We ate lunch, which was _____ (food), _____ (food) and _____ (food). It tasted _____ (adjective).

After lunch, it was time to leave. As we were _____ (verb) down the trail – oh no, my _____ (same person) got stuck in the mud hole. I helped them out – I'm so _____ (adjective). We laughed and decided to pick a less muddy trail next time.

The coronavirus has me feeling _____ (adjective) , but never fear, I live in the Vail Valley. Today, my _____ (person) , took me on a hike to _____ (noun). When we got there, there was a _____ (adjective) _____ (animal). The _____ (same animal) made a noise that sounded like it was having a _____ (adjective). It was really _____ (adjective).

We _____ (verb) up the trail for a little bit. I saw some animal tracks in the mud but then – oh my goodness! My _____ (body part) got stuck in the mud. I _____ (adverb) tried to get it out but I kept sinking deeper. My _____ (same person) had to pull me out.

When we got to the top, I saw a _____ (noun). It was really _____ (adjective). We ate lunch, which was _____ (food), _____ (food) and _____ (food). It tasted _____ (adjective).

After lunch, it was time to leave. As we were _____ (verb) down the trail – oh no, my _____ (same person) got stuck in the mud hole. I helped them out – I'm so _____ (adjective). We laughed and decided to pick a less muddy trail next time.